Bill Jones Does It Question! Who Jerked the Cord?

Billy Dan Jones, ex-newsboy, printer, and shop foreman, set out alone yesterday to run the offset Star on our new press — and he made it!

The first time with a big machine is a dramatic moment, for every man there has to be a beginning. Mr. Jones never saw one like our particular press until he and I visited the Fairchild Graphic Equipment factory at Joplin, Mo., Nov. 10, and I had seen only one other — a smaller prototype at the Baxter Bulletin in Mountain Home last August.

It's the number of push-buttons that gets you. But Mr. Jones pushed the right ones at the right time, and with George (Boots) Smith, Jr., checking the tension on the rolls of newsprint and the functioning of a multitude of ink and water rollers, the initial "loner" job came off O.K. and on time.

The 20-page Fairchild News King 475 is a magnificent color machine as you can judge from the quality of its picture reproduction in black-and-white — but when we will get around to printing color is anybody's guess. We're simply not up to it now.

Bill Jones got away with the press job yesterday, and he ought to be equally successful today, after which Wesley Phillips of Atlanta, Ga., the Fairchild installation engineer, will be back here for the final week of instruction.

So color will have to wait until our crew is proficient in black-and-white. We've been on time now for three consecutive editions — and when we've proved we can do this consistently then color is next on schedule.

One of the imponderables in working with a new process occurred this morning. We have an automatic waxing machine in the office which permits rapid pastep of advertising and news. But it takes the machine two hours to melt the wax so the pastep girls can go to work each morning. As some of the girls begin at 7 a.m. we installed a time-switch, which turns on the heater in the machine at 4 a.m.

Guess what happened. Last night some tinkler jerked the extension cord out of the wall socket — and at 7 this morning the waxing machine was stone cold!

Arkla Asks Lease Be Approved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. asked the state Public Service Commission Monday to approve a lease purchase contract with Clinton, and 20-year natural gas contracts with five industries.

Clinton voters have approved a $80,000 revenue bond issue to pay for a transmission and distribution system which Arkla will rent and eventually buy, under the contract submitted to the PSC. The firm plans to link Clinton to a transmission line at Damascus.

The 20-year industrial contracts are with the Aluminum Co. of America in Saline County, Malvern Brick and Tile Co. at Malvern, Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. at Little Rock, Robbins Products Corp. in Nevada County and MacMillan Ring-Free Oil Co. at Norphlet.

Dog Refused to Permit Help

PERTH, Australia (AP) — An Aislaian dog prevented ambulance attendants from giving first aid to his unconscious master for nearly an hour after an automobile wreck today.

The dog Rex snapped and snarled as the attendants tried to open the doors of the car. Finally the dog's master, Robert Robertson, 32, regained consciousness and quit him.

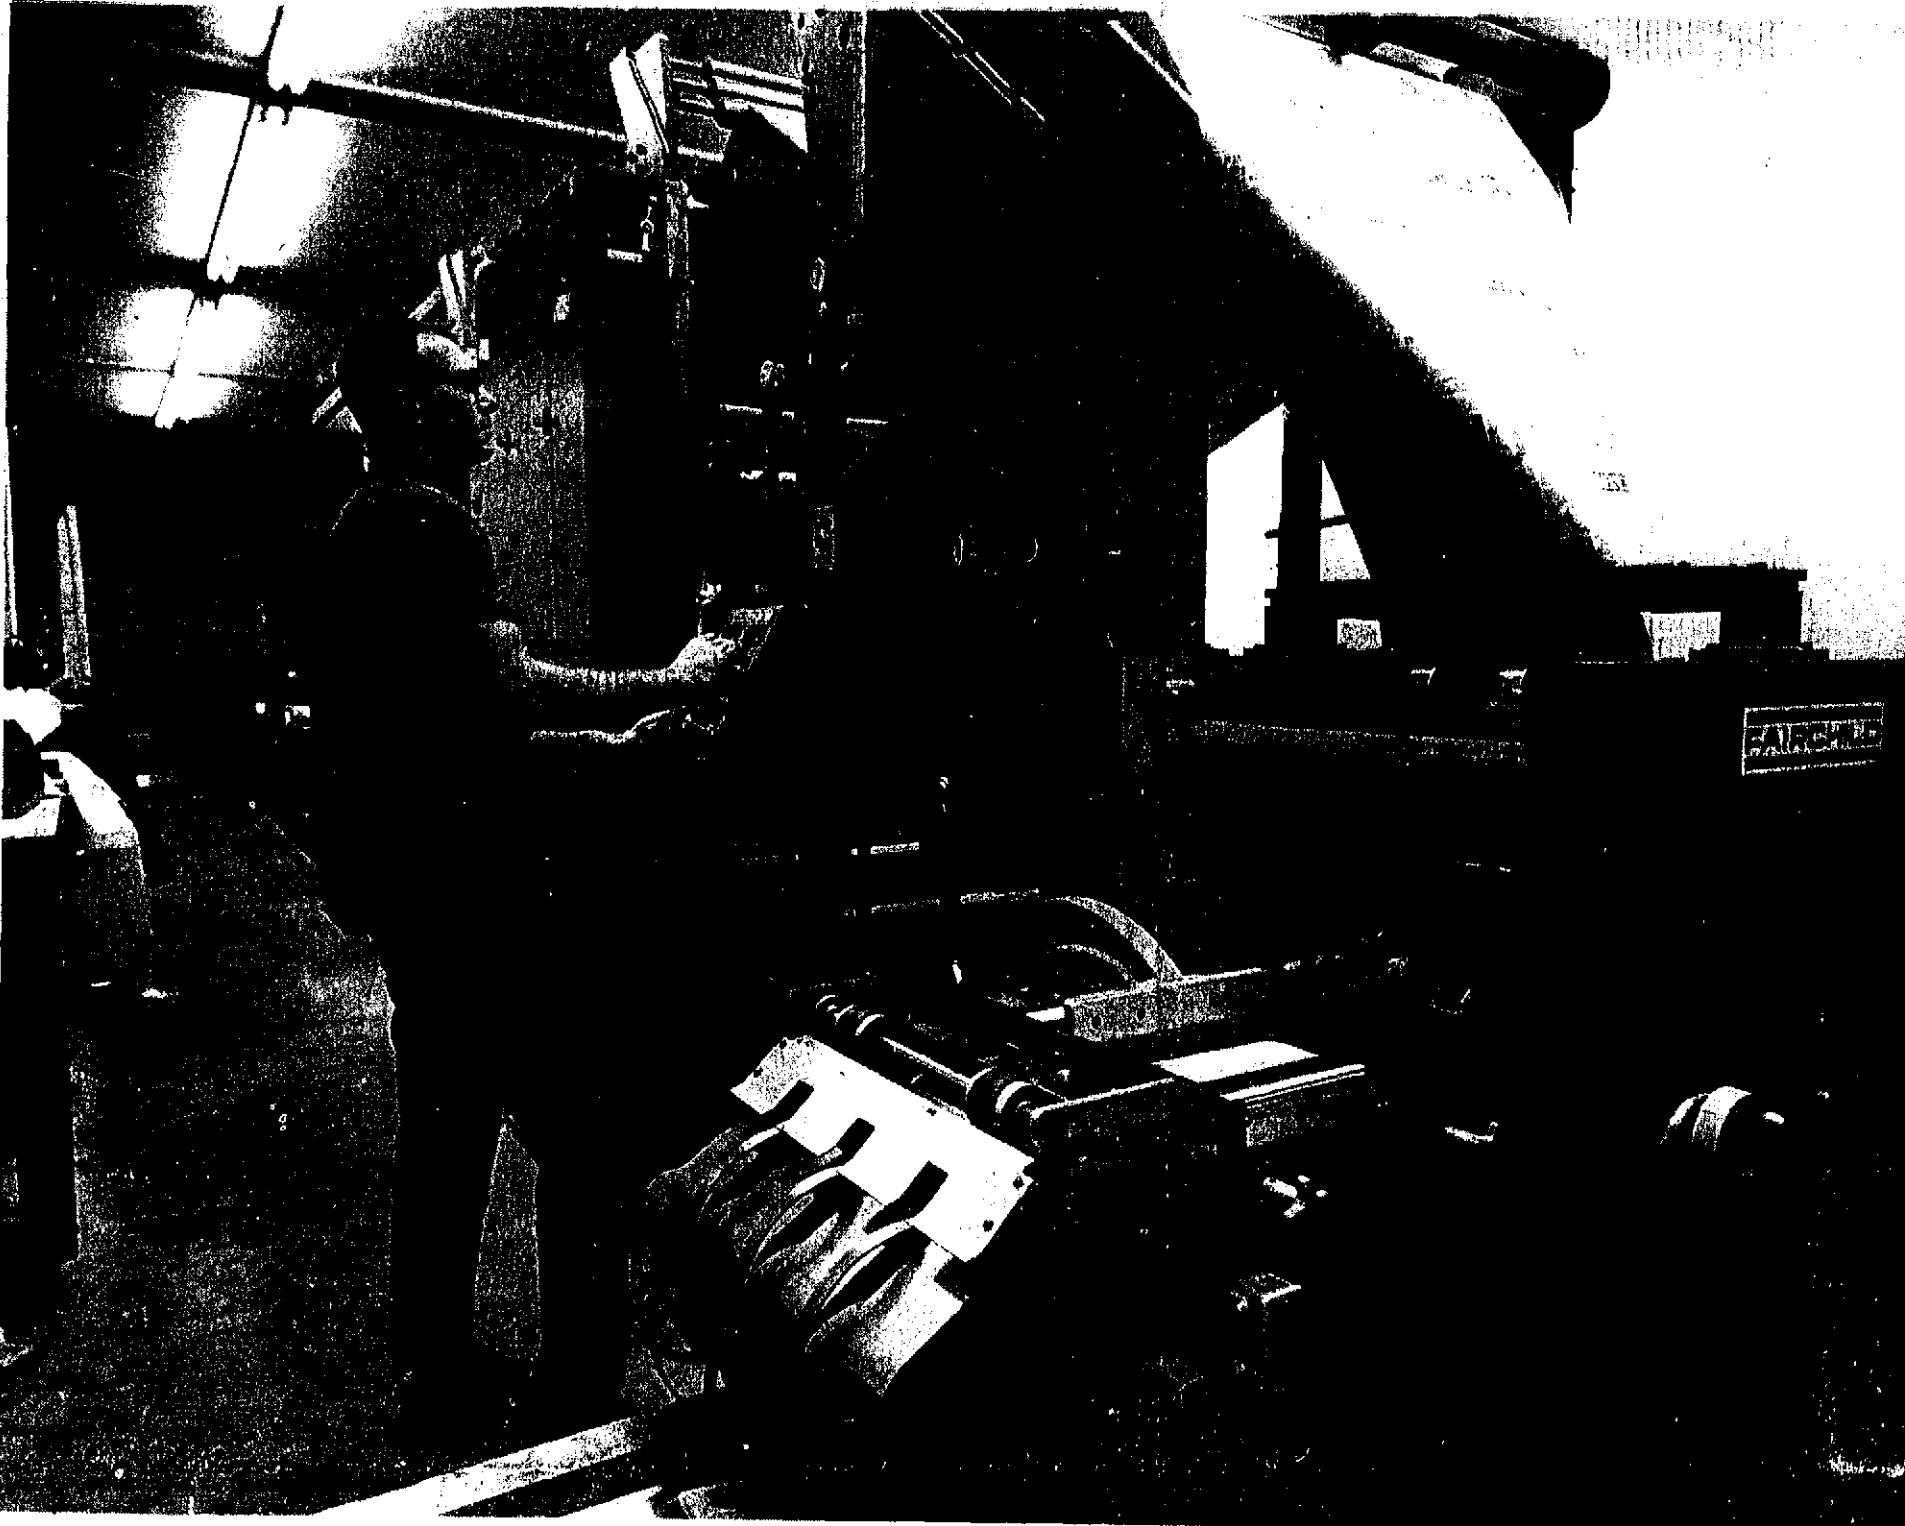

Robertson was taken to a hospital while Rex stayed to guard the car. Robertson had a concussion but refused to stay in the hospital, saying: "I must get back to my dog."

Rex was still on guard when he got back to the car after an hour and a half.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Helton of Fulton have been notified by the War Department that their son, James Ed Helton, was killed January 15 by a land mine in Viet Nam.

Bill Jones Makes Initial Run Alone on Our New Press

 THIS PICTURE MADE AT THE END OF MONDAY'S press run shows Shop Foreman Billy Dan Jones handling for the first time alone The Star's 20-page Fairchild News King 475 rotary offset color press.

HE WASN'T ENTIRELY ALONE, FOR GEORGE (Boots) Smith Jr., was assisting — but the man both of them missed in this "moment of truth" was a big ex-Texan named Wesley Phillips, the Fairchild installation engineer. Wes had to go home to Atlanta, Ga., over the weekend to pick up a new company car, but he's due back here tonight for the final week of instructing The Star's crew on press operation.

NEVERTHELESS THE STAR STAFFERS MET THEIR first crisis alone satisfactorily — a good print, and on time. And that's another milestone for this ancient newspaper, now wearing a new face offset in black-and-white — with color still to come.

Charged in Slaying His Foster Father

WALDRON, Ark. (AP) — Frederick Rush, 27, charged with murdering his foster father at Fort Smith, went on trial Monday for the third time.

He has been convicted twice in the shooting of Paul Rush on May 12, 1962. Both convictions, which brought sentences of life in prison and 12 years in prison, were overturned by the state Supreme Court.

Seven men and 5 women were chosen for the jury.

Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe is hearing the case.

Compliance at Hermitage Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal education officials will survey the extent of compliance with the Civil Rights Act by the Hermitage, Ark., School District, the U.S. Office of Education said Monday.

David S. Seeley, head of the office's Equal Education Opportunities program, said a team of analysts will make the survey. He did not say when the check would be made, however.

Similar teams have been sent to districts in Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee, he said, after complaints were received regarding some of the districts. It was not known if a complaint had been filed against the Hermitage district.

4 Million Americans Are Estimated to Have Diabetes But Only Half Know It

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

West Germans now drink far more champagne than the French — 119 million bottles to 52 million. In the last 18 months they put down more bubbly than the entire German nation consumed between World War I and World War II.

Been checked for diabetes lately? Some four million Americans are estimated to have this disease—but only half of them know it.

You're safer in the sky than on the highway. Considering number of miles traveled, automobiles are involved in more accidents than commercial airplanes.

No wonder wives of business executives complain of loneliness. Company presidents make an average of 41 trips a year away from home.

Deadly rabies is on the increase among wildlife, particularly in foxes, skunks and bats. But you don't have to be bitten by an animal to contract the disease. It is possible for men to get rabies merely by entering a cave inhabited by infected bats.

Dismisses Suit by the Food Union

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Chancellor Kay Matthews dismissed Monday a lawsuit which sought to make the University of Arkansas pay 68 cafeteria and food service workers overtime for work beyond 8 hours a day.

He said Pulaski Chancery Court lacked jurisdiction to order a state agency to comply with state labor laws.

Labor Commissioner Bill Laney filed the suit for the employees in what observers said was apparently the first case of one state agency suing another.

Milas Hale, attorney for Laney, said the dismissal would be appealed to the state Supreme Court because the issue was of great importance.

Matthews said the question raised by the suit was addressed to the executive and legislative branches of government.

E. L. McManey Jr., attorney for the university board, asked for dismissal on grounds that the board must be sued in Washington County, where the university is located. He also contended that the suit did not consist of enough facts to bring the matter to court.

Asks Designation of Disaster Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus asked President Johnson Monday to designate 17 Arkansas counties as a major disaster area and suggested allocation of $159,100 in federal aid for them.

The money, he said, would help pay for damage to public facilities from heavy rain and flooding in north and east Arkansas on Dec. 31 and Jan. 1.

The counties Faubus listed are: Clay, Craighead, Crittenden, Cross, Faulkner, Greene, Jackson, Lawrence, Lee, Newton, Poinsett, Prairie, Randolph, Searcy, St. Francis, Van Buren and Woodruff.

Mrs. Petre Heads Scout Cookie Drive

Mrs. Kenneth Petre, 1311 South Hervey, has been named Girl Scout Cookie Chairman for the 1966 Sale in the Melopvine Neighborhood which will begin February 4, according to Mrs. Fred McElroy, Neighborhood Chairman.

The order-taking period will be February 4-12, and during that time five varieties of cookies will be available. However, for the Open Sale in March only two varieties, peanut butter sandwich and assorted sandwich, will be offered for sale.

The foil-wrapped packages are boxed to be ready for the freezer. The price is 50 cents a box or $6 for a carton of 24 boxes with the proceeds to be used both locally and throughout the Conifer Council to expand camping facilities and provide other opportunities.

Training for the cookie sales will be held in Hope by Gail Gilbert, District Director, on Wednesday, January 19 from 2 to 3 p.m. at the Girl Scout Little House and from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. at Yerger School. Leaders will get permission slips for the cookie salesmen at these meetings, and parents are asked to sign them when their Girl Scout brings them home.

More Money for Urban Renewal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration approved an additional $171,067 grant Monday for the Metropolitan Area Planning Commission of Pulaski and Saline counties, Ark.

The money is for a continuing program of comprehensive planning for the Little Rock-North Little Rock metropolitan area. The agency made an initial grant of $130,781 last August.

The administration also announced an $18,000 grant to the University of Arkansas to provide technical advisory services to Arkansas cities and counties of less than 50,000 population in their comprehensive planning programs.

Snow in Some Parts of Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Snow moved into the southern half of Arkansas Monday night and a warning of locally hazardous driving conditions was issued. The U.S. Weather Bureau said that most of the snow will have melted by tonight or Wednesday.

No more snow is forecast by the bureau. Monday's highs were mostly in the 30s and low 40s, with exceptions at Fayetteville and Harrison, which had recordings in the high 20s. The high temperature reported for Arkansas Monday was 46 degrees at Hot Springs.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

To avoid any misunderstandings later on, parents with Girl Scouts who wish to participate in the Cookie Sale beginning shortly in Hope are asked to sign the permission slips which their Scouts will bring home. This is a mere formality, but it must be done and parents are asked to co-operate.

There will be an important meeting of the Hope Music Parents Association tonight (Tuesday) at 7:30 p.m. in Cannon Hall at Hope High School.

S-Sgt. Lynn H. Poole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Poole of Texarkana and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Poole of Hope, will be in a TV shot taken in Thailand for the Bob Hope Show which will be seen locally on Wednesday, January 19. He is assistant fire chief for the area and will be seen on a fire truck.

Hope Elementary schools will be closed Thursday and Friday and teachers will attend a reading workshop. The high schools will be closed on Friday, January 21 so instructors may participate in conferences and complete records for the first semester of school.

The American Legion Auxiliary is having a special program on National Security Tuesday.

Special Election in Clark County

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus set Feb. 16 for a special election in Gum Springs (Clark County), so voters can pick the city's first officials.

Faubus acted Monday on a request from Gum Springs residents to call an election.

Help Begins to Reach Area Under Attack

By THOMAS A. REEDY
 SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Seven thousand more U.S. fighting men poured into South Viet Nam today to strengthen Saigon's defense against guerrilla attack and to put more muscle in the Marine beachhead on the central coast. Although the Viet Cong forces avoided major action in advance of the lunar New Year celebrations later this week, guerrilla bands harassed government positions, exploded mines, tossed grenades and ambushed militia platoons. An orphanage was hit in one attack, apparently by mistake.

Political infighting among South Viet Nam's military leaders again raised fears of trouble for the seven-month-old government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. He was reported to have told a battalion of army troops at Saigon airport Monday that "5 to 50" generals were seeking to overturn his regime.

Rumors of an impending coup swept Saigon over the weekend during the visit of Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Most of the country's top military leaders were in Saigon at the time. The rumors subsided later.

The new American arrivals were 4,000 infantrymen of the U.S. 25th Division's 2nd Brigade from Hawaii and 3,000 Marines from Okinawa. They brought total American troop strength in South Viet Nam to 191,000 men.

A U.S. spokesman announced earlier that 4,500 Marines had landed but later said he had counted one battalion twice.

The Viet Cong before dawn fired mortars at a U.S. military compound in Quang Ngai City, 325 miles northeast of Saigon. The shells fell into a nearby orphanage and a Vietnamese regimental headquarters. Five children and three Vietnamese civilian caretakers at the orphanage were wounded.

None of the 200 Americans was hurt, but an unofficial report said two Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 14 were wounded.

"It was really close," said Sgt. Wayne Mabry of Philadelphia. "After the first round we were up and in the bunkers. We could see the rounds falling."

Temperatures were near zero or below in northern Illinois, including -7 at O'Hare International Airport.

In Michigan, Houghton labored under 31 inches of snow as temperatures hovered at zero.

Near-zero temperatures in Iowa kept the 1-to-4-inch snowfall of last week intact on the ground.

Snow fell in south central and southwestern New Mexico and the mercury hit -11 at Red River in the northern mountains.

Scattered frost was predicted as far south as the Florida Everglades, but rain and clouds over the Rio Grande Valley held temperatures above freezing.

The normal night temperature in Miami, Fla., is about 57 at this time of year, but the Weather Bureau expected it to drop to 49. Temperatures were expected to average seven degrees below normal throughout Florida.

Heavy snow fell in San Angelo and for 50 miles around the western Texas city Monday. Bridges were iced over and the mercury dropped to about 5 in the Upper Panhandle.

Helicopter Given Board Approval

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock Board of Adjustment approved Monday construction of a helicopter, which Helicopters Inc., said will be the first in the state.

The firm has been operating from Little Rock Municipal Airport. Completion of the new facility is expected near the end of February. The helicopter will be next to the Arkansas River and north-west of the state Capitol.

Ceremonies Date Set for Tech School

Friday February 4th, 1966 has been set aside by the Chamber of Commerce as "The Big Day For Hope in 1966." Scheduled for this day will be the official groundbreaking for the Red River Vocational-Technical School, the dedication of the newly remodeled portion of the Coliseum at Fair Park and the Annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

The groundbreaking ceremonies will be held at the School site on Highway 29 at the southern edge of Hope beginning at 4 p.m. and the other activities will be held in the coliseum beginning at 7:00 p.m. Turning the first shovel of dirt at the School site will be Governor Orval E. Faubus and serving as master of ceremonies for this event will be Senator Glen Hendrix of Prescott.

At the evening meeting Judge Lyle Brown will be in charge of the program as master of ceremonies and Judge John Wilson will introduce Governor Faubus as the principle speaker.

"Invitations have gone out to more than 75 persons in the area and we are planning for a crowd of at least 500 people," said Gene White retiring Chamber of Commerce president.

The Town & Country Restaurant will cater the dinner. Ticket sales are under the direction of Guy Grigg and can be obtained from him or at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Mercury Dips in Areas of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Arctic air sent temperatures below zero in large sections of the country today.

A deep snow cover added to the bitter cold in some areas. The mercury dropped to 28 below zero in Bismarck, N.D. In South Dakota, Sioux Falls and Huron had -19.

In Minnesota, it was -13 at Rochester, while an inch of new snow fell in Duluth.

Wisconsin was blanketed by snow and gripped by subzero temperatures. The snow depths ranged from 10 inches in Milwaukee to 17 inches at Park Falls in northwestern Wisconsin.

Monday's high temperatures in Wisconsin included 3 in Green Bay and Eau Claire and 6 in Milwaukee. The highest of the day was 11 at La Crosse and Lone Rock. Earlier it was -15 at La Crosse.

Temperatures were near zero or below in northern Illinois, including -7 at O'Hare International Airport.

In Michigan, Houghton labored under 31 inches of snow as temperatures hovered at zero.

Near-zero temperatures in Iowa kept the 1-to-4-inch snowfall of last week intact on the ground.

Notions Make Sewing Simpler

by Mary Brooks Picken
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When Grandma shopped for notions, she found at the counter pins, needles, threads, thimbles, buttons, hooks and eyes, hairpins, brush braids for the bottom of long skirts, featherbone for stays, beeswax, elastic by the yard.

Today, notions comprise a $2 billion dollar business. They include closet accessories, shoe colorings, beach essentials, hair goods, rainwear and the many, many other items we use in everyday living.

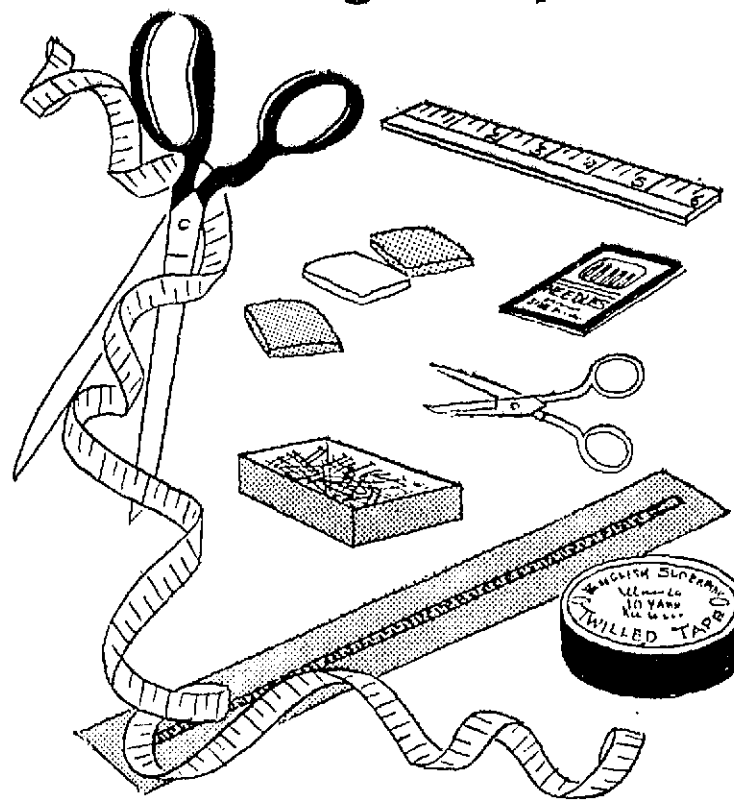

Notions are not limited to sewing, but the sewing notions are more than ever important.

In fact, you can spend a $10-bill easily in the notions department of any well-stocked store just buying the sewing essentials, plus a few novelties.

Nylon thread is recommended for stretch fabrics as it is very strong. Even so, I stretch the garment seams before and after to make sure I have enough thread length for the needed stretch in the seam. A short zigzag stitch is ideal for stitching stretch fabrics, any fabric, in fact.

Plastic thread, boon to mothers, comes in so many colors and is so easy to use on a hand-wound bobbin.

There are many interfacings, such as Pelonite, Bondex and Irontex, also iron-ons used for decoration, interfacing and mending, especially the latter.

There are scissors and shears galore and pinking shears of several sizes. There should be a small pair of scissors tied to every sewing machine and a good cutting shears that is used only for cutting fabric.

Every sewing basket or box should have a sharply pointed pair of scissors ready for snipping corners, trimming and clipping seams. There are multitudes of uses for pinkers, shears, scissors, and the special pair for the sewing machine; and none should ever be used for anything but fabrics and threads.

There are buttons from a dime for a dozen up to $5 each. One button firm's (Blumenthal's) exhibit made one literally ready to design a dress just right for some of the extraordinarily beautiful buttons.

As for belts and buckles to cover with fabric or leather, there are acres of them in every width and shape. Ribbons, braids, rickracks, bindings, no-iron embroideries, lace edgings and many lovely finishes that your fingers will itch to use.

Tailor forms, such as "The Tailor Board" for pressing seams open, wire press surfaces for pressing napped fabrics, ironing board covers, press cloths, cutting boards, dress forms are a few of the hundreds of items that help to make sewing simple and one's work more efficient.

Pillows Can Perk Up a Room

By Aileen Snoddy
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pete Cano has a job that makes him the envy of every woman. Every few months he gets to redecorate a bedroom boudoir, using imported furniture, expensive and intricately colored and designed bedspreads and draperies. For added filch he tosses a few decorative pillows around.

And he does this not in a single room but in dozens of room settings. Cano has a three-pronged title of fashion coordinator, designer and stylist for a bedspread/decorative pillow firm (Nettle Creek Industries) that has made a great impact on the field in the last 10 years.

As such he spends his waking days and sleeping nights thinking and talking design and color. This is something he hoped to do when he quit short his studies of design at Parsons School of Design, New York City, for on-the-job training with fabric designer and manufacturer Peg Riley.

When he joined the pillow firm, Cano was to run its new retail store in Manhattan. However, after three months he was pulled into the creative side.

With his experience and training Cano is not one to be caught lying down, so to speak, when it comes to proper use and selection of decorative pillows.

"It is really difficult to select pillows," he explains.

Decorative pillows play an important role in contemporary or traditional rooms. Pete Cano (right), fashion coordinator/designer for Nettle Creek Industries, discusses new pillow designs with Al Radloff, free lance artist and designer. Techniques for decorative pillows shown include embroidered Mexican cotton, needlepoint import from Madeira and a net overlay.

Even the interior designers who come to the showroom spend much time playing around with pillow arrangements to match the right shapes and colors.

When shopping for decorative pillows, Cano sees the average person picking two or three squares. "These they will pile in one corner," he groans. "Most are too cautious and also try to underplay the colors or make the mistake of picking two or three reds or black and white because they are safe."

Another shy step in selecting pillows for living room or den leads to skimpiness. "How many stick one pillow on each end of a sofa?" he asks with an accusing look, and then explains that use of more pillows gives better balance to the setting.

When in a department store, be certain to arrange a variety of shapes before buying because all shapes do not go well together, he says. A home decorator will find knife, square and triangle-shaped pillows are good companions. By buying only one shape the purpose of colors and shapes is lost.

Color and design are very important to Cano and he wishes more people would be daring in their use. However, he feels a homemaker should do what the mood calls for. "It is more exciting to be in a home with color but if the person isn't comfortable with color, it is best to keep to quiet shades," he admits.

Out of the showroom palette, though, the lovers of color select hot pinks, reds, avocado, sharp blues, acid greens. To match these to a room's decor, select the color you want to emphasize the most, he says, and then select the larger pillow you want to use in this shade.

Cano makes it all sound so simple, but remember his deftness with pillows comes from experimentation... the key to a decorative selection.

Singer Shares Secrets to Success

by Alicia Hart
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Young women floundering in the bewildering state of adolescence might take a tip from actress-singer Paula Wayne. After seven long years of movie voice dubbing, Broadway chorus lines and road shows, she is clicking in her chosen profession.

While barefooting her way around a floor covered with rehearsal scores, she gave the key to her growing success—"I'm a salesman. The product is me."

She explained her theory meant finding the best hairdo, make-up and fashions to project the image she wants. Most young women will not star opposite Sammy Davis in "Golden Boy," or take an act to Las Vegas or Miami Beach, but the self-analysis and hard work of getting a "personal look and philosophy" is within their grasp, she feels.

Paula Wayne

Miss Wayne, who tells some she is old at 27, says she is just beginning to make the most of her physical attributes and drawbacks. For example, she laughingly explains that she discovered in "Golden Boy" that she is built like a girl and she dresses accordingly. She plans to wear long skirts in her act to compensate for her short legs. She also discovered sequin tops and velvet tops go well with her figure.

Being a blonde and brown-eyed she makes the most of vibrant colors and finds that white or certain shades of yellow make her look washed out in the spotlight. When selecting day-to-day clothing, teen-agers should consider what the lighting will be where they are and what certain colors do for their complexions.

If you have heavy forearms as does Miss Wayne, you can camouflage them with long sleeves.

Her strong suit, though, is her blonde hair which is cut and set to break at the jawline, often in a guiche. "I have a broad chin and a short, muscular neck," she explains.

"and this style is the most flattering."

With this she concentrates on her eyes which she feels are her best feature. However, she doesn't use excessive eye make-up. A touch of brown eye shadow and mascara is heightened by two pairs of eyelashes worn at the same time. One is a thick pair and the other with long lashes.

Miss Wayne feels she uses less make-up, even on stage, than most actresses and says she gives her face a rest from make-up during the day. She thoroughly removes make-up with soap and water and doesn't use a cream. At night she smooths on a baby oil.

"I'm bad about dieting," she grimaces, but keeps her trim size 10 by chasing her daughter, 8, and son, 6. She likes ice skating and horseback riding and even captained Sardi's softball team last summer. However, if she really feels the need for exercise she turns to dancing, an enjoyable way to loosen up.

Insulation Checks Drafts To Make Life Comfortable

BY MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Imagine that the small openings all around your front door were a single large hole. You could probably put your fist through it.

A number of such openings will create chilling drafts that will make any home, no matter how good the heating plant, downright unpleasant. Buttoning up your house for winter weather will make living more comfortable, heating costs much lower.

If yours is a new house it is probably fully insulated. The least it should have is a layer of insulation in the attic or under the roof. This is the most important since heat loss is greater through the roof than through any other surface. The walls are also important and so is the floor over an unheated area.

The cost of insulating is one that you will only have to consider once. It is good year after year and will make your house more comfortable in the summer, too, since it keeps out the heat.

In finished walls, loose insulation will have to be blown in between the studs, a job for a contractor. Insulating the attic is an easier matter. Bat insulation (the kind that comes in a giant roll) can be laid between the attic floor beams. Or pour in three inches of loose insulation.

If you plan to finish the attic, install insulation against the roof rafters. Weatherstripping windows will cut out annoying drafts. This is a must if the windows fit loosely. There are a variety of materials available. The better ones need be installed only once.

A felt and metal combination is installed by nailing to the window trim so that the felt is against the inside face of the movable sash.

Keep Window Closed
Insulation of glass fiber is cheap, is used by packing into the space around the window edge. You will have to keep the window closed; throw away the stripping once you open the window.

Felt and metal weatherstrip can be used around a door also. For the bottom of the door apply a special strip of metal and felt so that the felt rubs against the floor.

Easily the most permanent of the materials is bronze weatherstripping. This is nailed in the window channel or against a door frame right in front of the doorstep molding. The material is springy and gives just enough to close the window or door. It remains hidden when the door or window is closed.

Storm windows do not block open spaces but they are a comfort factor. There will be drafts in front of windows that are completely sealed simply because warm air hits the cold window, cools off and moves, setting up air currents.

A storm window keeps the inside window from becoming cold. The dead air between the two windows provides the insulation.

Check Storm Windows
Check your storm windows to see that they are in good repair and fit snugly. Check the putty in both regular and storm windows. If storm window frames are not snug, caulk openings.

There are other tricks to keeping a house warm. Consider heavy drapes over large window areas, especially if exposed to heavy winds. Outside walls that get very cold—generally on the north side of the house—are the ideal places for massive pieces of furniture, well-filled bookcases.

That closet near the door, the closet that is up against an outside wall, is generally colder than the rest of the room. That elusive draft probably comes from under the door. Put a bottom strip on the door.

Keep warm this winter with proper insulation.

Most actors, if you ask them their life's ambition, will give you some high-sounding song-and-dance about wanting to do good things or become a great star or knock the world on its globe.

Not Tommy Rettig. All he wants to do is change a law. "There's one thing I'm going to do in my lifetime," he says. "And that is to change that California law about child stars—the one which only requires 15 per cent of a child's earnings to go into a trust fund. That isn't nearly enough."

Tommy Rettig speaks from experience, bitter experience. For four years, from when he was 11 until he was 15, he was the star of the Lassie television series. For him, it was no dog's life. He made a pile—not as much as today's stars earn, but you'd have to call it a junior grade fortune.

Dutifully, 15 per cent of his earnings was socked away. But the law, he says, only demands that much of contractual shows—like series—and says nothing about money earned on one-shots, such as guest appearances. Tommy made a lot of those in his day.

"In those early days of television," he says, "nobody had had any experience with series. We figured they would just keep going forever and that you could go from one to another easily."

But that wasn't the case. Tommy outgrew the part and was replaced by Jon Provost. He was, however, so closely identified with the part that no new series materialized.

FOR THOSE FOUR FAT YEARS, he and his family had lived high. Almost everything, except for his 15 per cent, went as quickly as it came in. He was an only child and admits he was spoiled.

"Nothing was too good for me then," he says. "I got whatever I wanted. And, during vacations, we took wonderful

No Dog's Life for Lassie's Pal

By DICK KLEINER

trips to wonderful places."

When he turned 21—he's 23 now—he got his trust fund. That 15 per cent was very nice, but it was no pot of gold. By then he was married and had two sons, so most of it went right away for the down payment on a house.

"I think," Tommy says, "that the law should be raised so that somewhere around 35 per cent of a child's income goes into the fund. And it should be expanded to take in everything the child earns—not just the contractual income."

One inequity of his days on Lassie has already been repaired. The residual clauses in the contracts then were not all inclusive.

"My Lassie series," he says, "is still running in Europe, but I don't get a penny from it any more."

TODAY, TOMMY RETTIG is still small, slender and rather boyish in appearance. Any Lassie fan, of that era, would still recognize him. He says he went through a period in his late teens, when he tried to mature—he got a crew cut, wore dark glasses, smoked a lot and called himself Tom. But "when I became 21 and honestly mature, I stopped all that—I quit smoking and went back to Tommy."

He married when he just turned 18 and his sons are Tommy Jr., who is 5, and Deane, or Dino as he's called, who is 4. He doesn't think he wants them to act—at least not until they finish school.

Tommy Rettig still acts. These days he has a running part on Never Too Young, a daytime serial which he describes as "a soap opera for teen-agers." He thinks it will help his career, because he does a comedy role on it.

At home, Tommy Rettig and his boys have a dog. Perhaps it's symbolic, but it's a Samoyed, not a collie.

Canned Dry Soup Mix Becomes a Busy Seamstress' Quick Lunch Special

On a day when you're in the mood to sew, lunch preparation can be an unwelcome interruption. That's the noon for soup, and you can make it in a flash. You'll want to serve this soup prepared according to label directions or to try this tempting variation. Start with a cup of canned beef. Quickly brown the beef, then add the soup mix and water. In four minutes, the tender enriched egg noodles and rich beef stock simmer to full flavor. Just before serving, add chopped canned tomatoes. As a calorie-conscious mom, keep the rest of your lunch light with crisp rye wafers and fresh fruit. For a no-figure-problem youngster, accompany the soup with a hot dog bun spread with butter, a chocolate-filled bowl of hot, nourishing noodle soup, and a glass of fresh fruit.

Johnson Vows Guns With Butter Policy

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — Probably no president ever has avowed more firmly the policy of guns with butter.

"We will not permit those who fire on us in Viet Nam to win a victory over the desires and intentions of the American people," President Johnson promised Congress Wednesday night.

But there were strong hints, in the next 5,000 words of his State of the Union message, that — as far as federal spending goes — the country will get a lot more guns and only slightly more butter.

Johnson made clear his view that, while the nation can afford a record $112.8-billion budget in fiscal 1967, it cannot afford the costlier spread called inflation.

So if it was a guns-and-butter message, it also was an anti-inflation message — an elaborate pieced-together plan for keeping prices in reasonable restraint while waging a war, without sacrificing home-front progress and without imposing a general tax increase which might precipitate a recession.

To prevent an overheating of the economy in the military buildup phase of 1966, Johnson proposed some fiscal fire extinguishers. One is an apparently rigorous downhold on domestic spending. He said that while the outlays for Viet Nam will climb another $5.8 billion next year, all other federal spending will rise only 0.600 million.

Johnson reassured those who feared that his "Great Society" programs would come under the ax, saying, "I believe we can continue the Great Society while we fight in Viet Nam." But some programs, he admitted, will suffer — "because of Viet Nam, we cannot do all we should, or all we would like to do."

Whatever his budget cuts may prove to be, they cannot cushion the strongly inflationary pressure of an arms program on top of a boom.

So Johnson called also for three special tax actions — quickie, one-shot doses of anti-inflation medicine, to cool the spending fever of industry and consumers during the build-up period.

1. Rescind temporarily the telephone and auto excise tax cuts that took effect 13 days ago.

2. Alter the income tax withholding system. Instead of withholding 14 per cent from all paychecks, scale the rate up to, say 20 per cent, for higher-paid taxpayers.

3. Speed up corporation tax payments — not increasing the amount to be paid, but collecting more of it in 1966.

Net result: $4.3 billion removed from the spending stream.

And eventually, the military spending will ease off. Well before the end of fiscal 1967, the government actually will be in the deflationary posture of taking more money out of the public's pockets than it puts in.

The plan will work, Johnson told Congress. "If you approve every program I recommend."

There's the catch. Will Congress be willing to revamp the whole tax withholding system for a negligible and temporary revenue gain? Will it renge on the excise cuts and change the tax rules for industry?

For The Fighting Men
Dear Helen: I've read everything in your column from broken hearts to broken fingernails, but I haven't seen anything about what we personally can do for the boys in Vietnam.

During the Korean conflict, my Mother wrote to some 30 boys she didn't know and her letters or me. I broke up with him recently because I knew if I did, it would be too late.

Now he threatens to kill himself, Helen. He rides around all night long. I live on a dangerous corner and every night he comes racing along, his tires screeching and horn blowing. He doesn't think I love him. He is blaming himself and sooner or later he'll wreck and then I'll blame myself all my life. Why must love be so painful?

Central Edges Harrison as Top Cage Team

By ALVIN SCHAY
Associated Press Writer
Little Rock Central edged Harrison by the closest possible margin, one point, to hold on to the No. 1 spot in this week's Associated Press high school basketball poll.

Central got 6 first-place votes and 95 points while Harrison had 4 top votes and 94 points from the 10 Arkansas sports writers and sportscasters voting in the poll.

Fort Smith Southside moved up three spots to third and Mountain Home advanced one to fourth. Others in the top ten, from fifth down, are North Little Rock, Pine Bluff, Paragould, El Dorado, White Hall, and Little Rock Hall.

Hall climbed into the top ten, displacing Little Rock McClellan, which was eighth last week. The top four teams have a combined record of 63-3, headed by Harrison's 20-0 mark.

Central's Tigers took their 14th straight victory Saturday night and their only loss was to Southside in Central's second game of the season. Southside's only loss in 11 games came at the hands of North Little Rock, one day before the Rebels topped Central.

The No. 4 team, Mountain Home, has an 19-1 record. North Little Rock dropped two positions to fifth after losing their second and third games of the season last week, to Hot Springs and Central. The Tigers hold one other victory over the Wildcats.

Voting on the third through fifth teams was close, too, with only a point separating each. Pine Bluff fell from fourth to sixth after dropping a one-point decision to Hall. Paragould, seventh, was unchanged from last week, while El Dorado jumped two spots to eighth.

White Hall's No. 9 position was unchanged and Hall moved into tenth on its triumph over the Zebras.

Central is scheduled to meet third-ranked Southside Saturday night, while the Rebels face Springdale and Harrison is at Fort Smith Northside Tuesday night.

Results of the poll, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points at right:

- 1. Little Rock Central (6) 95
- 2. Harrison (4) 94
- 3. Fort Smith Southside 63
- 4. Mountain Home 62
- 5. North Little Rock 61
- 6. Pine Bluff 49
- 7. Paragould 43
- 8. El Dorado 46
- 9. White Hall 15
- 10. Little Rock Hall 13

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Altshimer, Bay, Blytheville, Greenbrier, Greene County Tech, Hot Springs, Leachville, Little Rock Hall, Little Rock McClellan, Valley Springs.

Auerbach Is Winningest Pro Coach

By C.C. MCGILLICUDDY

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — National Basketball Association coaches can rest easily now with the knowledge they'll only have to win about 1,050 games to reach the top in coaching proficiency.

The man they must beat, Arnold (Red) Auerbach, confirmed Monday his long-rumored retirement at the end of the current season.

That means that even if the Celtics win every game from here on out, Auerbach will retire without winning 1,050 games.

The balding red head reached the 1,000th-victory milestone last week and now is looking for 1,002.

The game's most successful coach, now 48, will continue in his role as general manager of the team he directed to nine consecutive Eastern Division championships and eight NBA titles.

Player procurement will be among his most important duties in the struggle to keep the Celtics' basketball empire from crumbling. He said he was dissatisfied with the team's scouting operation and wants "to look over some of these top draft choices more closely himself."

Auerbach talked about retiring for more than a year before finally making it official. Last week he said the goal of 1,000 victories had been an important factor in his coaching this season. Now that coaching has been eliminated.

"But then the time comes when you must know this is it," he said. "This has to be my last year. I could probably keep doing it, but I won't."

With that Auerbach announced the end of an era in which he created one of the greatest team dynasties in the history of sports.

Introduced Signals

A Detroit policeman, William Potts, is credited with developing the first traffic signal to employ three lights — red, amber and green. His device, installed at a downtown Detroit intersection in 1919, remains basically unchanged today. His innovation stayed in use until 1924 and was one of two lights used in the world's first synchronized signal system.

Approval of AFL Trade Is Being Held Up

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — Commissioner Joe Foss has withheld approval of the disputed trade involving San Diego's Ernie Ladd and Earl Faison while he investigates tampering charges — and at the same time has pointedly squashed rumors of his removal as head of the American Football League.

Foss, in holding up the transaction that sent the two mammoth defensive linemen to Houston in a five-player trade, climaxed a day in which he reaffirmed his position verbally and then backed it without comment by employing his powers as commissioner.

Asked Monday afternoon about the rumors that the owners were looking to buy up his contract, Foss said:

"I am still on duty and will be tomorrow and the next day and the next day."

Some eight hours later, at the conclusion of two lengthy sessions at the AFL meetings, Foss announced his decision to hold up the deal that sent Ladd and Faison to Houston for linebacker Johnny Baker, defensive end Gary Cutsinger and defensive back Pete Jaques.

Foss refused to make any comments on his decision but did issue this statement:

"Pending a thorough investigation of the charge of tampering, I am withholding approval of this trade. I am also advising all parties concerned that I will not tolerate the trying of the case in the press by any of the representatives of the Houston Oilers or San Diego Chargers or the personnel of any other club in the AFL, players included."

Although Foss refused to say anything further about the case, he did reveal that he had the power to fine an owner up to $2,000 — and up to $25,000 with the approval of the league's executive committee. The executive committee is made up of the AFL's nine club owners.

The five-player trade, announced Saturday by the Oilers, was immediately greeted by a verbal blast from Sid Gilman, the San Diego coach and general manager. Gilman criticized Houston owner Bud Adams for issuing inflammatory monetary statements and thus "weakening the Chargers' bargaining position."

The uproar caused by Foss' announcement overshadowed other developments at the meetings. Little business was transacted by the owners, who were in session with Foss, but Oakland and Denver completed a trade and Miami completed the first round of its expansion draft.

The Raiders sent Arch Matsos, a three-time All-League linebacker, to the Broncos for Hewitt Dixon, a tight end who will be converted into a fullback.

The new Dolphins, meanwhile, selected 16 of the 32 players they will receive under the AFL's stocking formula and wound up with 14 players who had been starters at times last season for their respective clubs.

Dolphins picked were Buffalo flanker Bo Roberson, the Bills' leading receiver last season, and Boston guard Billy Neighbors, an All-AFL selection in 1964.

The Bills still owe Oakland a player for Roberson, who at 29 is the oldest player picked by the Miami club.

Sunday Deer Hunting Is Considered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A trial balloon to allow deer hunting on Sundays went up at a state Game and Fish Commission public hearing Monday.

It came down as though it had run into a barrage of double-o buckshot.

More than 20 speakers fired salvos of protest.

"Without hesitation I would say that over 90 per cent of the people oppose this change," said Rep. Bill Wells of Bradley County.

Rep. N. B. Murphy of Ashley County said the proposal would "cause confusion, division and dissension."

Wells said church people and sportsmen alike had asked him to oppose the proposal.

The commission has talked about opening deer season on a Thursday and extending it through the weekend. The two main deer seasons now start on Monday and end on Saturday.

One of the few speaking out for Sunday hunting was a school superintendent, state Sen. Tom as Penn of Black Rock. Penn suggested the season start on a Saturday so school pupils could get their hunting time in early in the period.

Hilltoppers Find Patience Has Paid Off

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Basketball has never been a waiting game at Western Kentucky but the high-scoring Hilltoppers have discovered that patience can pay off when points are few.

The Hilltoppers, averaging over 90 points per game in 13 previous starts, weathered Morehead's slow-down dodge Monday night and crept to a 45-35 victory for a 13-1 season mark.

Winners of seven straight since their three-point loss to fifth-ranked Vanderbilt a month ago, the Hilltoppers beat the stall at Morehead in one of a handful of major games as the colleges began their annual mid-season break for examinations.

None of the Top Ten clubs was scheduled but Dayton, like Western Kentucky a contender for national attention, rolled past St. Francis, Pa., 98-66 for its 12th victory in 14 games while Indiana topped Iowa 73-61 in a Big Ten contest and Auburn stung Tennessee 51-46 for a 3-1 mark in Southeastern Conference play.

Colorado evened its Big Eight record at 2-2 by trimming Iowa State 71-63; East Carolina nipped Southern Conference foe VMI 87-85 and Ohio University topped Seattle 84-73 in an inter-sectional game.

Western Kentucky, the Ohio Valley Conference pacesetter with a 4-0 record, got past Morehead by virtue of its 17-7 edge from the free-throw line. The Eagles went into a semi-freeze early in the game and, by blanking Clem Haskins, the Hilltoppers' high scorer, pinned the visitors in an 11-1 tie with less than five minutes remaining in the first half.

A 9-1 burst gave Western the lead 20-12 at intermission and, with Haskins hitting for 10 points in the second half the Hilltoppers held their margin the rest of the way. Dwight Smith, a 6-foot-4 junior, paced the winners with 14 points.

At Dayton, sophomores Don May and Glinder Torain scored 22 points apiece as the Flyers overpowered St. Francis with a 58-point second half. Torain connected on six of seven shots from the floor in the last 20 minutes. Hank Finkel, the Flyers' 6-foot-11 pivotman, added 18 points, two less than St. Francis' high man, Len Murray.

Vern Payne, a 5-foot-10 soph, led Indiana out of the Big 10 cellar with a 23-point spree against Iowa. The Hoosiers, who shot better than 50 per cent from the field squandered a 16-point lead before a jump shot by Payne and Max Walker's three-point play wrapped it up with four minutes to go. Walker scored 17 points while Gary Jones topped the visiting Hawk-eyes with 15.

Faubus Corp. Buys Newspaper

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Faubus Development Corp. announced Wednesday the purchase of the Advance-Reporter newspaper at Waldron.

Farrell Faubus, son of Gov. Orval E. Faubus, said Bill Wilson, 38, of Denton, Tex., will edit the newspaper under the direction of Francis Murray, editor of the Madison County Record, the governor's newspaper at Huntsville.

St. Louis Like Memphis Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, seemingly carried away with Southern hospitality in previous appearances at Memphis this season, have finally have won in that Tennessee city.

St. Louis, which made opponents feel more than welcome by losing its three previous games at the Hawks' home-away-from-home, came back from a 52-47 halftime deficit and beat the New York Knicks 115-106 in the only National Basketball Association action Monday night.

For a time it looked like the Hawks, who still have four games to play in Memphis, once again were going to disappoint their Tennessee fans, but they caught fire in the third quarter and then beat back a New York rally in the fourth for the victory.

Black Hawks on All Star Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Three members of the Chicago Black Hawks, including Bobby Hull, the goaltending leader, have been named to The Associated Press' National Hockey League All-Star team for the opening half of the 1965-66 season.

Hull, who has 36 goals, was joined by teammates Glenn Hall, a goalie, and defenseman Pierre Pilote plus right winger Gordie Howe and center Norm Ullman of the Detroit Red Wings and defenseman Jacques Laperriere of the Montreal Canadiens.

Ullman, the circuit's leader with 42 goals last season, is the runner-up to Hull with 22 this year. The 37-year-old Howe is the NHL's career pacesetter with 611 goals, including 16 this season.

Betsy Ross had never made a flag before she designed the American flag.

Because of the shoulder, the Yankees may try to convert the great outfielder into a first baseman, a position Mantle has been reluctant to assume in the past. Now, however, he admits he's giving it some serious thought.

"I've never tried first base," he said, "but if I can't throw and they want me to try it, I'll give it a try."

Such a move would send Joe Pepitone to the outfield, a position he has played for the Yankees.

Neal to Coach at Southern State

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — A former Southern State College football and basketball player, Calvin Neal, will become an assistant football coach at SSC July 1.

Auburn Smith, the head coach here, announced Saturday the hiring of Neal, a native of Clarendon. Neal is now the principal of Arkadelphia High School.

Duke Devils Still in Lead in Cage Poll

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The competition between the Duke Blue Devils and the Kentucky Wildcats for first place in The Associated Press' major college basketball poll has reached the cliffhanger stage with Duke clinging precariously to its slim lead.

Neither is scheduled to play this week because of midyear examinations. Undeclared Kentucky is idle until Jan. 24 when it takes on Louisiana State while Duke takes a longer rest before meeting North Carolina State Jan. 29.

In the balloting by a special panel of 41 regional experts, Duke polled 388 points, only three more than the Wildcats. The Blue Devils had 24 first-place votes to Kentucky's 17. The voting is based on games through last Saturday.

St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania was third with 323 points followed by Providence with 231, Vanderbilt with 212 and Kansas, 168. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

Kentucky, which trailed Duke by 40 points in last week's poll, closed the gap after beating Vanderbilt 96-83 to take over the Southeastern Conference lead. The Wildcats are 12-0.

Duke, 14-1, won three games last week, beating Clemson 87-85, Maryland 76-61 and Wake Forest 101-81.

St. Joseph's advanced one place to third. The Hawks whipped Wake Forest 97-72 for an 11-2 mark. Providence defeated Rhode Island and Boston College, advancing two places to fourth. Vanderbilt, 14-2, slipped from third to fifth.

The Top Ten, with won-loss records through games of Saturday, Jan. 15, and total points:

- 1. Duke 14-1 388
- 2. Kentucky 12-0 385
- 3. St. Joseph's, Pa. 11-2 323
- 4. Providence 12-1 231
- 5. Vanderbilt 14-2 212
- 6. Kansas 13-2 168
- 7. Bradley 14-2 160
- 8. Texas Western 12-0 134
- 9. Chicago Loyol a. 12-1 43
- 10. UCLA 10-4 31

Fastest Break in West

LOS ANGELES (NEA)

The "in" place to be on a balmy wintry night with the gently wafting palms of southern California is inhaling smoke at the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

There's Dean Martin at side court, and Mickey Rooney, and Rhonda Fleming of the red tresses, only native Hollywoodian in the joint. One of these nights soon Lorne (Bonanza) Greene will recite the pledge of allegiance.

Then the basketball starts, and Freddy Schaus, the solemn faced coach of the Los Angeles Lakers, becomes the director of the show, as he has been since the Lakers moved west 5½ years ago.

"When we first went out there," recalls Fred, "it was like going to a tennis game. That's how much they knew about pro basketball."

"Now we've created a hard core of 6,000-7,000 fans. Plus Doris Day."

La Day is the No. 1 aficionado in this gaudy self-styled sports capital of the world, an avid rooter every night the Lakers are at home.

The Lakers are what's good about pro basketball, which has become a troglodyte of sports with no basket safe from the predatory reach of those seven-foot dunkers. Schaus, without a Wilt Chamberlain or a Bill Russell, still manages to win because he has the Lakers running.

A franchise that arrived in Los Angeles $300,000 in the red is now grossing over a million dollars a year because the natives find basketball, with Jerry West and Elgin Baylor, interesting and exciting.

"Now," analyzes Schaus, "all clubs are running more. All nine teams are looking for the fast break. The defense in pro ball is physically too tough to make your necessary 40 to 45 baskets a game from a set offense."

"I figure a team should make 10 to 15 baskets from a break, or from trailer situations off a break (a man coming down and following up a missed shot)."

But this very frenzied type of activity has led critics to say the finesse has gone out of the game—ergo, the coaching. A man doesn't have to be a coach to run a team.

"Horsefeathers," fumes Schaus, or words to that effect. "A lot of the coaching is done on the bench during a game. Using patterns when necessary against certain teams. Probing weak spots when they put a rookie in the game."

"It burns my pants to hear we don't coach, but simply match up men. If that was all there was to it, I wouldn't be in it. On the same subject, I don't see how a player-coach can get the job done. I'm just 'beat' after a game. I don't want to deprecate Richie Guerin (St. Louis) or Dave DeBusschere (Detroit), but I know that even I don't see things I should from the bench and make mistakes."

(Guerin and DeBusschere are the only two playing coaches in the National Basketball Association.)

Schaus, who coached at the University of West Virginia before he was persuaded to come west (for a $5,000 raise and a three-year iron-clad contract), also knocks the thesis that the colleges play a more deliberate, exacting game because they have no 24-second clock.

"Over six years in college, we averaged 14.1 fast breaks a game," he reveals. "And we had fewer patterns of play."

Schaus does admit, however, that the pros have overpowered the game to the extent the basket should be raised above 10 feet. The species has grown from the height Dr. James Naismith decreed back in 1892.

Rooter Mickey Rooney wouldn't appreciate that.

Ozarks Off to a Fast Start

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The victory prevented Henderson College of the Ozarks got off to a fast start and had little trouble in defeating Henderson 91-69 in Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball here Monday night.

The victory prevented Henderson from taking third place in the AIC race from Ozarks.

Carroll Cookson and Richard Pyland each scored 19 points for Ozarks, and Kennie Hughes scored 26 to pace the Reddies.

Ozarks is 6-4 and Henderson 5-6 in AIC standings.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a special election will be held in Hempstead County, Arkansas on the 1st day of March, 1966, at which election there will be submitted to the electors the question of issuing Hempstead County, Arkansas General Obligation Industrial Development Bonds under the provisions of Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas in an amount not to exceed $222,000 (called "Amendment No. 49 Bonds") for the purpose of furnishing permanent financing of the costs of securing and developing industry (called "bonds"). The bonds will be dated June 1, 1966, interest thereon will be payable semiannually on June 1 and December 1 of each year, commencing December 1, 1966, and the bonds will mature annually on June 1 in each of the years 1969 to 1986, inclusive, but will be subject to redemption prior to maturity upon such terms as shall be specified in the Order of the County Court authorizing their issuance. The particular industrial project will consist of lands, a manufacturing building, improvements and facilities for a plant to be owned by the County and leased to and operated by Missouri Research Laboratories, Inc., a Missouri corporation (called "Research Laboratories"). The bonds will be general obligations of the County to the payment of which the County will pledge its full faith, credit and taxing power, including particularly a one and one-half (1½) mill special continuing annual tax under the provisions of Amendment No. 49. However, as authorized by Amendment No. 49, appropriate provisions will be made in the Order of the County Court authorizing the issuance of the bonds for the suspension of the collection of said tax on an annual basis to the extent of available revenues (including particularly lease rentals under the Lease Agreement with Research Laboratories) derived from the operation of the industrial project. The bonds will be sold at public sale and may be sold with the privilege of conversion to an issue bearing a lower rate or rates of interest.

Only qualified electors of Hempstead County, Arkansas will have the right to vote and the electors may vote either for or against the bonds.

The election will be held between the hours of 8:00 o'clock a. m. and 6:30 o'clock p. m. at the following polling places in Hempstead County, Arkansas, to-wit:

Rights Groups Using Gains as a Sword

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) - Unprecedented gains in the fight against racial discrimination have turned into a double-edged sword for civil rights organizations, whittling away their support as well as the foundations of segregation.

In the absence of crises, civil rights organizations are losing funds and followers. Unspectacular programs such as voter registration or job improvement do not attract much money or members.

"Our financial situation is pretty desperate," said John R. Lewis, national chairman of the Atlanta-based Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

The committee is the smallest and least organized of the civil rights groups and usually has financial problems. But the bigger organizations also are feeling the pinch.

Included is the oldest and largest, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, founded in 1909. Its executive director, Roy Wilkins, reported recently in New York that the NAACP lost nearly 25,000 members in the past year and had an unadjusted deficit of more than $200,000.

Coupled with a 45,000-member loss in 1964, this reduced membership from a 1963 peak of 535,000 to 440,150.

Wilkins attributed the decline to a belief of some supporters that the civil rights battle is over. So did Lewis.

"One of the reasons," Lewis said, "is a feeling on the part of a great many people that the basic problems we have been struggling with are solved. Then there is just a tendency on the part of the American public, when they cannot see the dramatic action, to slow down on support."

The Congress of Racial Equality, experiencing wholesale changes in leadership, and the Southern Christian Leadership conference, headed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., plan to revamp their fund-raising methods.

CORE's community relations director, Alan Gartner, gave this analysis in an interview:

"The public feels in a general sense that because of the voting rights and civil rights bills, the diminution of major demonstrations and the antipoverty program - the movement as it has been is no longer a relevant matter. We disagree, of course."

Gartner said CORE had debts last Aug. 31 totaling "very close to $300,000." It has been reduced to about $210,000, he said, "a very significant feat."

"Financially, we are certainly in need," said the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, treasurer of the Atlanta-based conference. "But we are not drowning. We are still able to pay our bills."

"People usually give more when there is a crisis," he said. Enactment of the civil rights law of 1964 and the voting rights law of 1965, accompanied by continuing desegregation in the South, eased tense areas.

Federal agencies are enforcing nondiscrimination policies; federal examiners are registering Negro voters in four states; federal funds are going into new programs for the poor.

"Certainly it might be expected with the federal government moving into the civil rights field

Inflationary Spending Hit by Republicans

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders say the State of the Union is less than good, the nation's world prestige is dropping and its domestic economy is threatened by inflationary Democratic spending.

This was the summation of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford as they ignited their "torch of dissent" to President Johnson's programs in a taped national broadcast Monday night.

Reviewing the world situation, Dirksen said that despite $120 billion spent on foreign aid, "our prestige on the world thermometer of good will has dropped fast and far."

He called for continuing war and peace efforts in Viet Nam. In each, he said, there can be "no substitute for victory" — no withdrawal and no negotiation mean defeat before we ever reach the negotiation table.

"Let the peace efforts continue," he said. "Let the military effort continue. Let it be intensified if necessary, as sound military judgment dictates."

Ford denounced the "inflationary policies of the President" which he said had increased the cost of government $26 billion in two years. He called for sharp budget pruning of domestic programs he said would eliminate the need for $1 billion in new taxes Johnson has asked.

Democratic reaction was speedy.

House Speaker John W. McCormack said the Republicans were "a little presumptuous" in billing their effort as a GOP "State of the Union" message. It was the President's job to make such a report, he added.

However, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he is glad the Republican leadership "had a chance to deliver its message to the people of the United States."

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., a Senate Foreign Relations committee member, said Dirksen was "blowing both hot and cold" on Viet Nam while purporting to support the President.

"Particularly immature, in my judgment, is his reiteration of the old cliché that 'there is no substitute for victory,'" Clark said. "Throughout history most wars have ended at the conference table far short of total victory."

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert said, "If what we heard him (Ford) say tonight means that there's going to be an about-face in Republican voting on such crucial issues as education, health, and war on poverty, we can look forward to a very productive second session of the 89th Congress."

"If, on the other hand, all that we really saw and heard was window-dressing intended to confuse the issue and conceal the Republicans' real record, then I think it was largely a waste of time."

Dimes Group Gives to LR Med Center

Mrs. Lura Impson, Chairman Hempstead County Chapter, The National Foundation-March of Dimes, announced today that the county chapter has contributed $400 to the March of Dimes supported Birth Defects Treatment Center at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock.

Mrs. Impson stated, "Now that Polio has virtually been eliminated by successful March of Dimes research, The National Foundation - March of Dimes is concentrating on the fight against birth defects. Serious birth defects affect one out of every 16 babies born. Last year 2,700 babies were born in Arkansas with a serious birth defect."

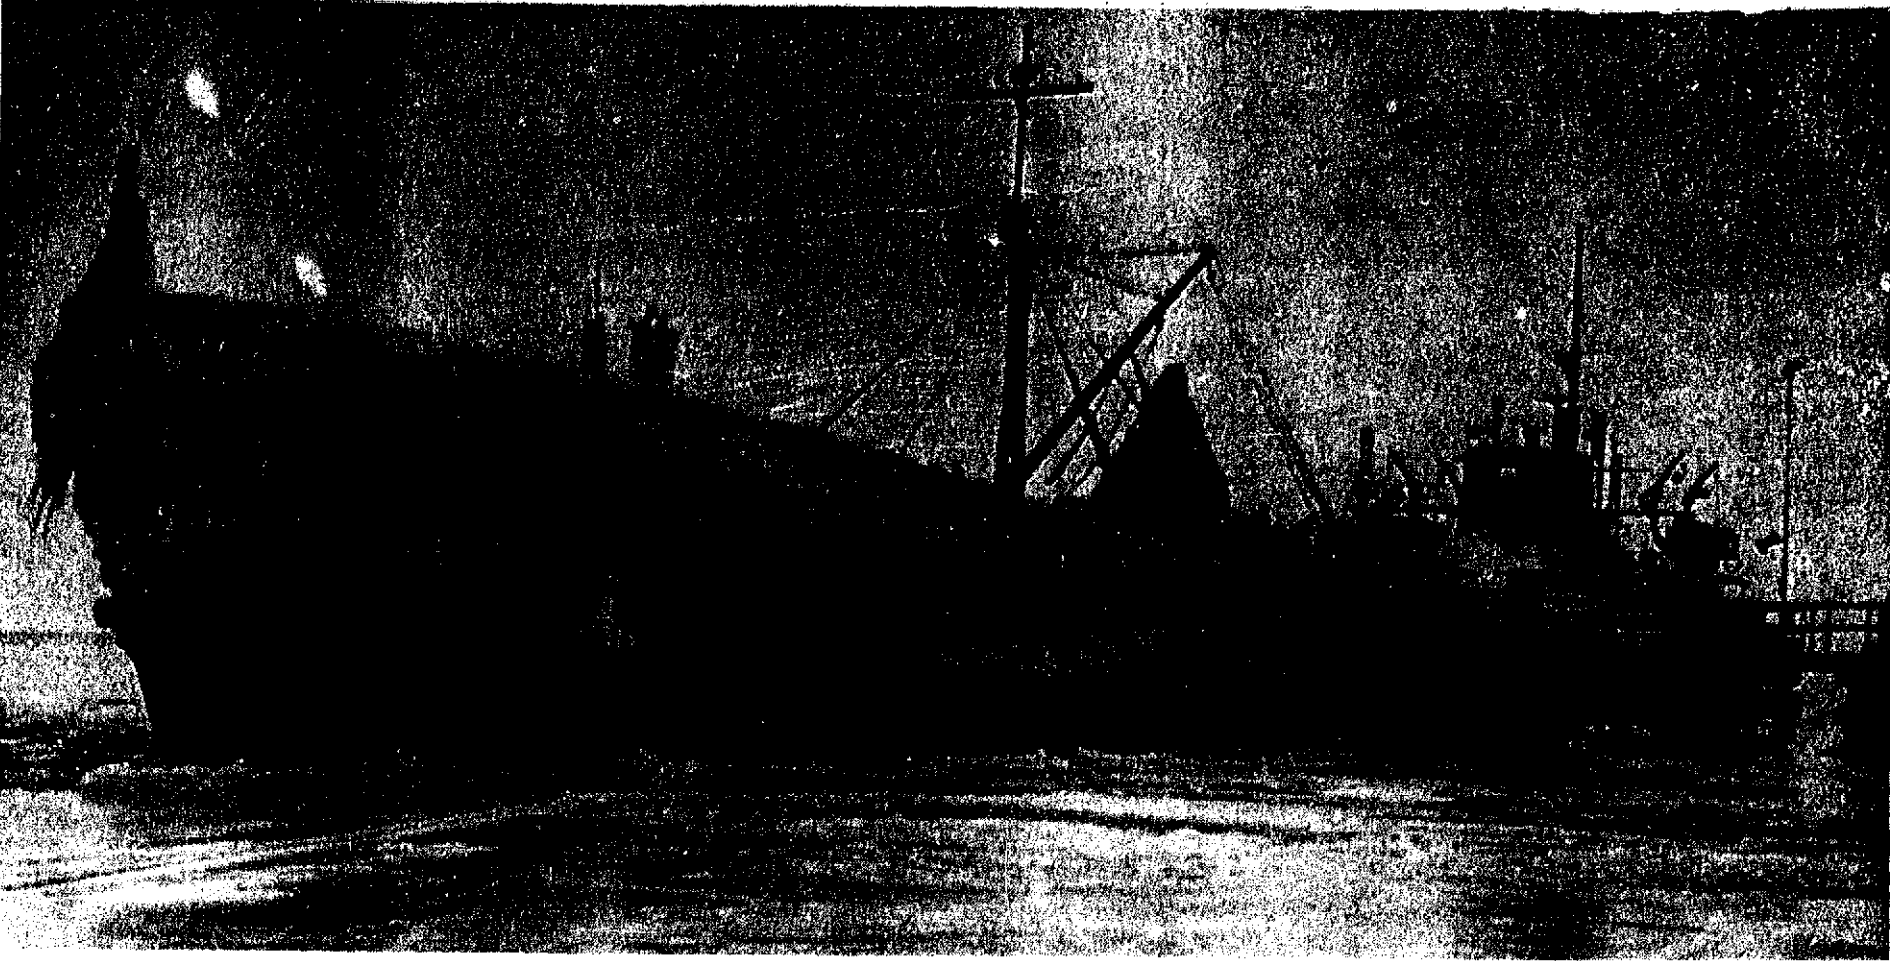

She went on to explain that, "A child with a serious birth defect, can with the modern advances in surgical, medical and rehabilitation techniques, in many cases, be assured of a normal or near-normal life."

Last year the National Foundation sponsored 51 Birth Defects Centers throughout the country, including the center at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock. Six additional Centers have been opened this year making a total of 57 March of Dimes Centers scattered throughout the country.

The centers are not intended to take the place of the family doctor but are intended to help the doctor in the smaller communities to obtain proper diagnosis and early treatment by teams of experts.

In 1965, the county chapters of the National Foundation in Arkansas, donated $31,000.00 to the Birth Defects Treatment Center. Over 400 children were hospitalized at the center and many more were seen and treated through the outpatient clinic.

Shriver Only to Work on Antipoverty

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's decision to have Sargent Shriver devote full time to the antipoverty program won bipartisan congressional praise today.

Johnson told a news conference Monday that Jack Hood Vaughn, now assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, would succeed Shriver as head of the Peace Corps.

Vaughn previously spent three years as regional director for the Peace Corps' Latin-American program.

Shriver's dual role as director of both the Peace Corps and the Office of Economic Opportunity had caused increasing concern at the Capitol for the past year.

Many members of Congress serving on committees which oversee the antipoverty program had been saying that it was developing administrative snarls and should have the supervision of a fulltime head.

Johnson, in making his announcement, declared again that the fight against poverty would be expanded.

"We are going to prosecute it with all the vigor and determination at our command," he said.

Championship Flyweight Fight

TOKYO (AP)—The championship fight for the vacant world flyweight title between Argentina's Horacio Accavallo and Japan's Hiroyuki Ebihara has been postponed for at least 2½ months, it was announced today.

The title match was originally scheduled for Feb. 1 in Tokyo.

The postponement was due to Ebihara's injury to his left hand sustained during a training session Jan. 10.

Army Seeks 113,000 More Fighting Men

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The vast bulk of the 113,000 additional fighting men sought by the Johnson administration will be used to strengthen Army and Marine ground forces, it was learned today.

American ground forces are shouldering an ever-greater combat load in the Viet Nam war.

The Navy and Air Force each will get only a few thousand more men in the new buildup, which will push total U.S. armed strength over the 3-million mark for the first time in a dozen years.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen that the administration will ask Congress to vote another $12.345 billion to underwrite the soaring costs of the U. S. involvement in Viet Nam. The White House said $415 million will also be asked for economic purposes, bringing the supplemental total to $12.761 billion.

McNamara provided few details, beyond disclosing the dollar figure and the new manpower increase. Officials at the Pentagon took their cue from the defense secretary and declined to elaborate.

The new administration money request — heralded as long ago as last summer — will be sent to Capitol Hill Tuesday and McNamara will give the specifics in testimony before senators on Thursday.

This is the second major supplementary money request and military manpower increase for this year stemming directly from the deeper U. S. commitment in Viet Nam.

Last August, when the basic decision was made to put large American ground forces into the battle, Congress granted the administration another $1.7 billion and authorized an increase of 340,000 men, mostly for the Army.

The second installment will boost the manpower ceilings to a point more than 450,000 above the level anticipated at the time the big Viet Nam buildup was ordered last summer.

McNamara said that only $4.6 billion of the new installment will be spent before this fiscal year ends next June 30, the rest later.

Weaver to Take Oath of Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert C. Weaver becomes the nation's first Negro Cabinet member and its first secretary of housing and urban development today.

He takes the oath of office at midmorning with President Johnson among the spectators.

Johnson nominated Weaver, 58, for the post last Thursday. The Senate waived its rules to quickly provide the necessary confirmation Monday.

It was a contrast from 1961 when there was Senate opposition to President John F. Kennedy's naming of Weaver to be administrator of the House and Home Finance Agency, nucleus for the new department.

At that time, there were four Senate Banking Committee votes and numerous floor speeches against him. This time, there was no dissent, and three who voted against him in 1961 — Sens. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah — were among those praising Weaver.

Confirmed by the Senate at the same time was the nomination of Robert C. Wood, a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, as undersecretary of the new department.

Wood headed a presidential task force which has recommended new tasks and organization for the department.

Johnson is expected to include some of these proposals when he asks Congress this year to give the new department an expanded role in overcoming the problems of the cities.

Wife Claims no Knowledge of Murder

By BEN FUNK
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Candace Mossler says she would be glad to take the witness stand to defend herself against charges that she murdered her husband, who killed her millions of dollars.

"I know nothing of the murder," the blonde told newsmen Monday as the selection of a jury began for the joint trial of Mrs. Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers, accused in the killing of her husband, Jacques Mossler.

"I will gladly testify to that. I would surely think the jury would acquit me."

Mossler, 69, owner of banking interests in several states, was slain June 30, 1964, in a modest apartment the family maintained on Key Biscayne, a residential-resort island near Miami.

The killer fractured Mossler's skull and plunged a knife into his body 39 times.

It could be several weeks before the opportunity to call Mrs. Mossler to the stand will materialize.

After the first day's court session, no juror had been chosen and it appeared that the process of picking 12 jurors and four alternates would drag on at least through the first week.

The trial could last two months or longer.

The state charges that Mrs. Mossler, who says she is 39 years old, and Powers, who claims to be 29, were partners in a love affair — and in murder.

Mossler's will named his wife as executrix of an estate she estimated at $28 million.

HEALTH HINTS

NERVOUS TENSION & CHRONIC WORRY

"Relax and quit worrying, it's just your nerves," is not very helpful advice to a nervous sick person. "Such individuals need help for they are really sick and their sickness does have a cause."

The problem is one of deep seated and constant nervous tension caused by an irritation of the nerve roots leading from the spine. Though nothing may seem wrong organically the proper X-rays and other tests will reveal this condition when a scientific Chiropractic examination is made.

Only when the cause of this irritation is removed can a person relax and quit worrying. Until then, the individual is sick, mentally and physically. Such illness eventually leads to real organic disturbances in most cases. Nature is constantly making an effort to relieve this pressure and sometimes through a prolonged rest or change of climate does accomplish it. Shock or other severe reaction may rarely bring about a change for the better.

The most efficient and satisfactory way is to have a thorough examination by a Chiropractor who is experienced in making spinal corrections.
